Physicians: please write the causes of death clearly and legibly. Cause of death which is the result of violence must be described so that the manner in which violence occurred is clear. Mode of dying, such as heart failure, asphyxia, etc., is not sufficient. Indefinite terms, such as senility, should be avoided. Where there is no physician in attendance, or where he does not sign the certificate, the undertaker should obtain the information as to the cause of death, and the certificate should be signed by the coroner. Deaths of children under one year of age should be carefully certified, and the exact cause of death stated. Even if the baby lived but a few hours, the cause of death is especially important.
